The Gamblers

Jared Johnson '02

"I love YOU a bushel and a peck!"

"SIT DOWN! You're Rockin' the Boat!"

" I got the horse right here!"

Sky Masterson and Sarah Brown, played by Eric Mihan and Rachel Burdick, with Director Josh Rubinger '01

Last year, Untitled at Large reinvented themselves, presenting Into the Woods to a packed Events Barn both nights. This year, Director Josh Rubinger intelligently decided to add shows. The Barn was once again packed with people, and Guys and Dolls was a hit!! Audience members were actually signing along! All in all it was a great success, and left everyone looking forward to the spring production of A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum.

Director Josh Rubinger, Musical Directors Chris Blackstone and Todd Monsell

Nathan and Adelaide, played by Ben Hirschfield '01 & Laura Blancq '00

Our Talented Crew?

College

Under the direction of G. Robert Kolb, the College Choir has had another amazing year. Whether touring the midwest during spring break,or at their numerous concerts here on the hill, they were always well received. Highlights of the season included their musical, Brigadoon, and George Frideric Handel's Messiah in May. They will also be performing at Baccalaureate and Commencement exercises.

Choir

The Choir also branches out into two smaller groups. The College Hill singers, shown at left, perform many complex pieces in full choir concerts. The have a separate rehearsal time, and a great deal of energy is put into their performances.

In the past few years, a new female a capella group was formed called Tumbling After. Only women in Choir are eligible to audition for it. They have quickly grown into a popular group who often takes the stage with the Buffers, Hamiltones, and Special K. Tumbling After takes risks, has fun, and are highly successful.

Orchestra

The orchestra is again under the direction of E. Michael Richards. They have had many concerts on the hill this year, including their spring concert, Music from the New World, where they played Ives, Barber, and Dvorak in Welllin.

Jazz Ensemble

Saxophones
Brett Freedman
Jamie McKee
Dathalinn O'Dea
Nate Raynor
Matt Liptak
Jamie Skiba

Trombones
Matt McKee
Keith Foster

Trumpets

Piano- Katherine Meyers
Guitars- Larry Bahr, Pete DiIorio
Vibes- Danielle Piacente

Bass- Tom Klein
Drums- Matt Lerish, Chris Fogelstrom

Doctuh Mike Woods has been directing the Jazz Ensemble for quite some time, and this year, like many others, was wonderful. This ensemble is a tightly knit group of performers. They even have a smaller Jazz Combo within it, which has performed some of Katherine Meyer's own pieces.

Congratulations also has to go to her for the release on May 6th, of her CD, "What I've Learned".

We've all come a long way, and who knows just how far we'll go? The Class of 2000 knows no boundaries, and is ready to mark the millennium. But we couldn't have done it without our parents, and this section couldn't have been done without their help as well. So THANK YOU!

In Memory of Mike Maslyn
1979-1999

Saying Goodbye
by Justin Tyler

What do you say? How do you describe an event that shakes the very fiber of your being? When I first heard that the Spectator was doing an article about Mike Maslyn's death, I wanted to be the one to write it. I've know him for seven years; we went to high school together, we grew up alongside each other, we'd seen each other at our best and worst and I didn't trust anyone else to write about him. But as I sit here, I can hardly find the words. How do you capture what it feels like to lose someone? Where are the words that breathe the emotion? What do you say?

I remember the day I first heard. It was our senior year in high school, October. My brother and I were throwing wood into our basement for the upcoming winter when the phone rang. It was Mike's mother. In a voice crazy and composed all at once, she told me that Mike had Leukemia. She didn't have time to say anything else, but "she'd call later when she knew more, goodbye". What? What does that mean? I went back to throwing wood dizzy with confusion and worry. Leukemia. They can cure that, right?

A year later he'd beaten it. He'd had a bone marrow transplant, his sister was a rare perfect match. We were on our way to college, standing on the threshold of the future, giddy with the new world that lay ahead. The doctors thought it would be better if we were roommates freshman year and we couldn't agree more. We moved into North 112 and had the greatest time of our lives. we drank our first shots together, we stayed up until 4am playing MarioKart every night, we lived with the greatest people and fulfilled the college freshman's dream. But college does funny things to old friends. We grow and change so fast that sometimes we forget to hold onto the past. Second semester a room in Ferguson opened up and for health reasons, Mike took it. We grew apart some after that, each going our own way for awhile. We were still friends but never as close as we were.

Spring semester last year he sat a group of us down one day. He told us that the cancer had come back and he had to leave school. In that moment we could only comfort ourselves with the thought that he'd beaten it once, why the hell not twice? And he did beat it, for awhile. Over the summer he found out that he had it a third time. The doctors told him he didn't have long to live, time had run out. What do you say to that?

Looking back you wonder if you did all you could for him. Was it the first hospital visit that mattered most to him or the last? Did he forgive you for all of your mistakes? Did you waste any time you could have spent with him? These are the questions that keep people up at night. It can drive you mad if you let it. dealing with it is part of growing up I guess, learning what loss is and bearing it. It's a hard lesson.

Mike was many things to many people. He was a leader to the staff of Panorama, Hamilton's weekly news program. he was a competitor to those he met on the field and rink of the IM soccer and hockey leagues. He was a student of the Japanese language and the Comparative Literature field. He was a close friend to many, at Hamilton and abroad. To me, he was the one person that knew me for all I am. He knew what's I'd come from and how I became who I am today. I am forever indebted to him; without his friendship I would be much less of a person. I hope he knew that in the end.

Everyone says that the funeral is a place to say goodbye to those that we've lost. It's the last time we see our departed friends, frozen lifeless in the that moment. I don't believe in funerals. Every day is a goodbye. Every moment is another chance for us to bid farewell. No hellos and a thousand good byes, that's what death it. Well, goodbye Mike, goodbye and goodbye and goodbye.

Special thanks to Justin Tyler and Roy Sabo for their help with this page.

Last Words

We can't believe that the yearbook is done....and before graduation no less.Neither of us had any idea just how much work we were taking on when we applied to be the editors of the 2000 yearbook last spring. A year later, and much wiser, we have finally completed the biggest challenge we have faced at Hamilton. That's right, it was even harder than getting a beer at a Bundy party! Along the way we have had the priviledge of working with many wonderful people. Even though at times it felt like we were doing the yearbook by ourselves, it would never have been completed without the help of a number of people. So here goes!

Thanks to Bob Carper from Jostens for bearing with us when we were overly picky about the cover, and for always having the right answer. Bev Low for her help in dealing with #%@^! Fraternal Composite and the headshots. Theresa Gallagher for getting us all our supplies, keys, space for photographers, etc, etc. Terry Lapinski in the athletic office for her much needed, last-minute help in recreating the sports section which was so sadly lost somewhere in Beinicke (NOT by us we might add). Paul Jones in the computer center for teaching us how to scan photos. Julia Renard-Payton for her assistance in gathering photos for the Performing Arts section.Jan and Sally in the mail center for helping us get the actual pages off in the mail. Yve Padilla for chasing down faculty departments and organizations, and then taking wonderful pictures of them. Darren Block and the Spectator photo staff for letting us steal their pictures to fill our blanks. Molly Fazio and Paige Peters for taking pictures at the senior formal. Sara Lynn Jackson for all her hard work on the Four Years in Review, sorting photos, and all her help with the busy work we couldn't be bothered to do. Laura Steinmann for helping with distribution in the fall, when we know her schedule was overflowing already. A HUGE thank you to all the parents who have donated money, and sent in numerous baby pictures....we promise to get them back to you in the fall!

And this letter wouldn't be complete without thanking the Class of 2000. This yearbook could not exist without your wonderful and sometimes very disturbing pictures. This book is for you and we hope it captures all your Hamilton memories perfectly. Good luck in the future--it's our turn to leave our mark on the new millennium, so know no boundaries and go get 'em.
